PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

What’s good about being the NCPA President? Getting to know our members!

After nearly three years in this position I’m still in awe at the range of interests and talent. Our August meeting was a perfect example -- and if you missed this one, you missed a lot!

Eighteen people attended, two of which joined as new members.

When everyone did their introductions it was amazing to listen to the variety of writing they do. And that’s important because we’re a family. Our organization exists to support one another as writers, to help our members achieve their dreams of writing and publication.

We are not competing against each other, we help each other grow through sharing our frustrations and challenges as well as our triumphs.

We were missing Tom Kando, our NCPA Secretary, so I’m attaching the NCPA August Meeting Notes so you’ll know what was discussed, and our speaker, Amy Rogers, delivered a fact-filled presentation that every one of us needed.

We all complain about the difficulties of marketing and promotion, and understanding distribution channels. Amy’s talk was a great help in making direct comparisons between Createspace/KDP Print, Lulu, Bookbaby, IngramSpark, and Pronoun.

During the meeting we also briefly discussed the value of speaking events for our members. Many organizations are constantly looking for speakers for their meetings, and can access information from the Speakers Bureau section of our website.

Is your name there? If not, all you need to do is update your profile by joining the Speakers Bureau and adding the information about the subjects you cover and what engagements you would accept.

This is a very short message this month, but the enclosed links and attachments should keep you reading for a while. The NCPA is a great organization, but it can only grow and improve through the members’ excitement, enthusiasm, and engagement. Let us know what you’d like to see in the future, and how you’d be willing to make it happen.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve the NCPA,

Sharon Darrow, NCPA President
NCPA Membership Chair ~ NCPA Book Awards Coordinator

$900 Check to 916Ink from NCPA Silent Auction

Sharon presents a $900 check to 916Ink representative (Justin?) at the NCPA meeting Thu 10 Aug, from the 2017 Awards Banquet Silent Auction.

Added to the $260 given to 916Ink the evening of the Banquet, 24 Aug 2017, from the card raffle and other donations, that’s a total of $1,160 donated to 916Ink this year, in memory of NCPA members we lost in 2016, Ken Umbach and Laurie Hoirup.

We’ve decided to take a break from the Scholarship for another year, and plan to donate the 2018 Silent Auction receipts to 916Ink for the second year, in memory of Ken and Laurie again, plus add Pam Suwinsky, since we didn’t have time to properly honor her in 2017.

Thank you NCPA member Angelica R. Jackson, for the picture.

(Amy) ~ Whether you have an eBook enrolled in KU, or you're a reader with a subscription, here's a very interesting insider article on some problems with scammers on Kindle, and what you can do to pressure amazon to fix the problem: https://davidgaughran.wordpress.com/2017/07/15/scammers-break-the-kindle-store/

(Amy) ~ This indie author did everything right when it comes to self-publishing. Interesting article with nitty-gritty details. Note that she considers her efforts a success (which I agree) though she has clearly lost money on the venture, which is typical of a first novel by an unknown writer. https://janefriedman.com/self-publishing-debut-literary-novel/

MEMBERS CORNER

One Man’s Experience on NCPA Members Who’ve Supported Him in His Work

Folks, I write to bring you an encouraging tale about NCPA members who’ve supported me with their skills as I worked through publishing two books.

The first member who provided me with editing and proofreading support was Sandra Williams. Sandra first provided me with several pages of a sampler of what she could do with my work. I found her approach to be patient and kind towards my work and this encouraged me to contract her to do the entire book. After several months and email coordination with me, Sandra submitted to me the book with excellent proofreading and editing, complete with a layout ready for the printer.

The second NCPA member who helped me out in my second book “Rumination”, which is a collection of poetry over a forty year period, was Ted Witt. Ted, through his company Pretty Road Press, guided me through the book’s layout and artwork then submitted the book to Createspace for publishing, and availability on Amazon.

His assistance led to the book garnering the 2015 Northern California Publishers and Authors First Place Award: Poetry Category. Again, Ted extended his expertise in a patient and understanding way so that we were both comfortable in doing our best.

Editor’s Note: You may remember from the July newsletter, that both Sandra and Ted are NCPA Past Presidents.

NCPA Authors mentioned in STYLE MAGAZINES in August

Much thanks to NCPA member Andrea Roth (w/a A.K. Buckroth), who sent this Author PR info. If you have information, please let us know so we can pass it on in the NCPA Newsletter. Don’t depend on others to do it!

Local Style Magazines have a 10 Spot Local Author section, and this month (Aug), NCPA members are mentioned in three:

http://www.stylefedh.com/2017/07/25/150579/the-10-spot-local-authors

Folsom, El Dorado Hills, August, 2017, Edition: A. K. Buckroth, Carmichael * Cindy Sample, El Dorado Hills * Sherry Joyce, El Dorado Hills * Susan Spann, Fair Oaks

El Dorado County Foothills, Aug 2017 edition: Angelica R. Jackson, Cameron Park * Cindy Sample, El Dorado Hills * Sherry Joyce, El Dorado Hills * (Yes, some are duplicates, but that just means they get more exposure, in more areas.)

Night Flares, Robert M. Pacholik’s prize-winning Vietnam short story collection, has now received the 2017 Silver Medal Award in Short Story Fiction, by the Indie Digital Publishers Association. The hybrid fiction/non-fiction story collection bested nearly 200 other entries in the national/international competition, at the recent Awards Ceremony in New York City. CONGRATS, PACHO!!

Pacholik served two combat tours in Vietnam as a combat photographer/ military journalist from the start of the Tet Offensive in early February 1968 until December 1969, and is now at work on a novel set in Saigon, during the tumultuous Tet Offensive that began in early February 1968, and lasted until May of 1968.

For the past two years, English and Journalism teacher, plus prolific author of more than 30 published books in just 7 years, Michelle has been one of the Judges for our NCPA Books Awards. Her topic “Making Your Characters Breathe” will be about Character Development, and she’ll tie that in to what she looks for when judging.

Bio:  M. L. (Michelle) Hamilton teaches high school English and journalism in Central California. Since her earliest memory, books have been an integral part of her life, so pursuing a teaching what she loved came naturally. However, she always dreamed of publishing a novel.

That dream came true. Her first novel, Emerald, was published by Wild Wolf Publishing in 2010. Since that time, seven books in the World of Samar series have been published. In 2013, the Peyton Brooks’ Mysteries were born, allowing her to branch into a new genre.

After seven novels in that series, she moved the main character into the FBI. In 2014, she began the Avery Nolan Adventures, an urban fantasy series set in beautiful Lake Tahoe.

In addition to teaching and writing, she has three sons, two dogs, and three cats. And sometimes a stray rabbit living under her deck.

LOOKING FOR AN EDITOR?

Our November speaker, M.L. Hamilton (Michelle), has been a judge the last two years, for the NCPA Book Awards, and has decided to branch out into editing. She has a new website for the editing services, http://blackcatediting.weebly.com plus a separate Email: blackcatediting17@gmail.com

Her qualifications for doing editing are impressive. As she says on the website, “I am a published author with more than 30 books to my name. I have also been a high school English teacher for the last 25 years, so believe me, I've seen it all. In addition, I've taught journalism for more than 20 years.”
